

Who am I?

I'm Liene, an Edinburgh based designer with a passion for all things design, art and photography.

I'm looking to specialise in web design and UX, while continuing to build on the breath of my visual communication skills and my 6 years of experience in various creative roles from marketing designer to video game artist.

I'm a creative problem solver with a wide skillset and excellent visual literacy. I thrive in a creative and collaborative environment.

In my free time I enjoy photography, video and board games, pub quizzes, craft beer, nail art and felt crafting.
